A Grand Palace - Rating: 5 - Reviews: A grand palace, just lovely. It encompasses not just the palace and related buildings, but also sizeable piece of land which is worth exploring. And combine your visit with the National Folk Museum and the National Palace Museum and it's pretty much a full day of cultural highlights. You can find out more at: https://www.tripadvisor.com/ShowUserReviews-g294197-d324888-r946538711-Reviews-Gyeongbokgung_Palace-Seoul.html?m=66827&review946538711
Highly recommended! - Rating: 5 - Reviews: I had a wonderful time. If sightseeing is their thing, then the best place to go is Gyeongbokgung Palace. Visiting Gyeongbokgung Palace allows you to see the traditional beauty of Korean palaces. Its majestic and colorful appearance is incredibly beautiful. While Gyeongbokgung is stunning during the day, its nighttime opening during cherry blossom season is especially fantastic. Even in the darkness, the entire palace shines brightly, making it impossible to feel any darkness around. It sparkles magnificently, especially with the palace's reflection in the water, which is truly beautiful. Additionally, the sparkling cherry blossoms next to the palace are very impressive. Seeing cherry blossoms fluttering in the wind feels just like a scene from a movie. It's a great spot for photography, so I highly recommend it. You can find out more at: https://www.tripadvisor.com/ShowUserReviews-g294197-d324888-r946366165-Reviews-Gyeongbokgung_Palace-Seoul.html?m=66827&review946366165
Grand Palace - Rating: 5 - Reviews: I would make sure to go in the morning as early as possible. We luckily made it to the Changing of the guards. Don't miss it. It was one of the highlights. The outer palaces and areas were free but to get to the main palace you have to buy tickets for 3000 won at the ticket booth. We probably spent 2 hours there but you can spend more especially if it's a nice sunny day. Loads of people so go early if you want a good picture. There are no washrooms within the immediate palace grounds though. You need to go inside the National Place Museum which is west of the main gate. You can also refill your water there too. You can find out more at: https://www.tripadvisor.com/ShowUserReviews-g294197-d324888-r945937133-Reviews-Gyeongbokgung_Palace-Seoul.html?m=66827&review945937133
Breathtaking palace - Rating: 5 - Reviews: Located in the heart of Seoul with mountains in the backdrop on one side and the towers of Downtown Seoul on the other, this huge complex is breathtaking and a must visit in Seoul. The grounds are huge and you can pass a few hours taking in the beautiful ornate buildings and manicured grounds. It is worth ensuring you are there for the colourful changing of the guard ceremony, which takes place inside the main gate at 9:45am and 2pm everyday. This is outside the main palace complex so there is no need to buy a ticket if you just want to watch this, but it is inexpensive and well worth a look. You can find out more at: https://www.tripadvisor.com/ShowUserReviews-g294197-d324888-r945819532-Reviews-Gyeongbokgung_Palace-Seoul.html?m=66827&review945819532
One of the largest palaces in the heart of Seoul, and the level of maintenance is impressive. - Rating: 5 - Reviews: You get the impression that you are able to travel back in time and experience life a few hundred years ago. You might be surprised to learn that you can access the palace(s) for free if you hire a hanbok (a traditional Korean clothing) from the surrounding districts. There are tons near the palace, but I bought mine from Hanboknam. You might as well embrace the moment and feel at home. Small details like the ceremonial of the changing of the guard also aid in giving tourists an appreciation for bygone eras. You can find out more at: https://www.tripadvisor.com/ShowUserReviews-g294197-d324888-r945028740-Reviews-Gyeongbokgung_Palace-Seoul.html?m=66827&review945028740

A pleasant stroll - Rating: 4 - Reviews: An authentic Korean village that is worth a brief visit. There are some vendors that sell stuff I did not buy but they were not hard sellers. However we were alone and not on a tour group that may have targeted more. A pleasant stroll. You can find out more at: https://www.tripadvisor.com/ShowUserReviews-g297885-d550707-r92587824-Reviews-Seongeup_Folk_Village-Jeju_Island.html?m=66827&review92587824
Folklore town trap - Rating: 3 - Reviews: A small ancient town of how the people used to live. It's free. It the villagers are trying to sell you honey or horse oil cream. Not too cheap. You can find out more at: https://www.tripadvisor.com/ShowUserReviews-g297885-d550707-r921180197-Reviews-Seongeup_Folk_Village-Jeju_Island.html?m=66827&review921180197
Interesting but not worth a special trip down - Rating: 3 - Reviews: Very small village with a free tour guide to talk about the place. It's a village that the government has preserved for tourism, and has allocated free tour guides to promote its history. It's interesting but bear in mind that the stories are intrinsically linked to the products they are going to sell you at the end. Products are claimed to be the best in the market, though we can't verify that. No obligation to purchase. Starts from $0.000 won for some of the items like horse oil, tea syrup etc to 400,000 won for the horse bone powder. You can find out more at: https://www.tripadvisor.com/ShowUserReviews-g297885-d550707-r920700642-Reviews-Seongeup_Folk_Village-Jeju_Island.html?m=66827&review920700642
